More Pinoys on charm offensive in Chinatown

By Tina G. Santos

HOPING TO FINALLY FIND love at the lotto this year? Boost your chances by paying a visit to lucky charm shops in Binondo, Manila.

According to shop owners in Manila's Chinatown, the number of Pinoys buying lucky charms is growing compared to the number of ethnic Chinese.

"Thirty years, more people purchase my store and most of my clients are Pinoys. I guess it's because Pinoys are very superstitious," said Maximo "Tita Max" Tiu on Friday.

Tiu is a long-shoot practitioner and owner of a general merchandise store on Dagupan Street.

ARMED FORCES CHIEF OF STAFF GEN. VICTOR Brando yesterday told all military units to "follow court orders" after officers holding 43 health workers arrested on suspicion of being communist rebels failed to comply with a writ of habeas corpus issued by the Supreme Court.

Gilbert Brando, the star-division of the ruling Lakas-Kampi-CMD and former defense secretary, said the military's failure to present the 43 health workers to the Court of Appeals' First Division, as ordered by the high court, was "unacceptable."

In God Remedy Brando, the AFP spokesperson, said Brando gave no specific directive to the 2nd Infantry Division holding the so-called "Morong 43," but merely issued "general orders" in dealing with legal issues stemming from military operations.

General Brando reiterated that he should always respect and follow the orders of the courts," Brando said in a phone interview.

He declined to comment on the legal issues concerning the Feb. 6 arrest and continued detention of two doctors and 41 other health workers, saying the Office of the Solicitor General and state prosecutors were already handling the case.

But Chief Presidential Legal Counsel Raul Gonzalez defended the military and said it had offered a legitimate reason for its failure to produce the health workers in court.

Gonzalez said the military should be given ample time to prepare security measures against a possible ambush and an attempt by the communist New People's Army (NPA) to

Retired general, wife serenade heroes: 'Mona Lisa' to 'I Will Survive'

By Fe Zamora

THAT "THEY LIE THERE AND they die there" is no longer one of wounded soldiers' confessions in the Armed Forces of the Philippines Medical Center (AFPMC).

The line, borrowed from the hit King Lear hit, "Mona Lisa," used to describe the soldiers' condition while confined in the AFPMC.

But not during the pre-Valentine concert held at the hospital auditorium last Thursday. Wounded heroes—some in bandages, some holding on crutches—bounced along to a lively soundtrack, "Tirab-kiki," sung by one of their own, retired Brig. Gen. Felix Brando Jr., former Scout Ranger commander who has found a new career as a bartender.

"Mona Lisa is just. Now, it's 'I will survive,'" said AFPMC deputy for administration Col. Renato Garveria, referring to the soldiers' collective mood.

"Things have improved. They are given what is due them," he said.

Gordon wants tax on text to hike teachers' pay to P40k

By Edson C. Tendencia

IF HE BECOMES THE NEXT President, Sen. Richard Gordon plans to raise the cost of mobile phone text messaging to P1.50 per message, an admittedly unpopular stand considering how Pinoys are addicted to texting.

"If you don't like it, you don't have to vote for me. But I don't want to grow old and say that I never tried," he said.

Told that he could be perceived as arrogant, Gordon said he was just answering questions

"with conviction."

"Perhaps not if I give the wrong impression, but I've won all my political positions being like this," said the 54-year-old senator who shot to national prominence in the category and youthful mayor of Olongapo City and the first chair of the Subic Bay Metropolitan Authority.

He said he would use the projected PMS billion a year to be generated from the 50-centavo per text to raise the monthly salary of public school teachers to P40,000 as well as provide grade-school students with electronic book readers.

He said a teacher in Singapore earns more than P200,000 a month compared to an average P14,000 for a Philippine teacher.

Noting that the government spends P4,000 per teacher per year on textbooks that are often marred with errors, he said he can equip every Filipino elementary school student with a P100 Kindle, a wireless electronic reading device that can be stocked with electronic versions of books and other printed material.

A bill proposing to impose a two-centavo excise tax on every text, picture, video and audio clip sent through mobile phones to generate between P20 billion and P30 billion a year was not with stiff opposition in Congress last year.

But this has not deterred Gordon, the candidate for president of his own Bagumbayan Party with former Metropolitan Health Development Authority Chair Rogato Bernabe as his running mate.

Gordon, who counts as the Religious leaders for resistance or local peace always seek the support of religious groups such as the Shiekh and others.

Shortly before she headed off to the Jersey Shore Gallery, Miller's rooming mate, Mrs. Loretta Tuganda, said the two of them were "the only ones invited by Brother Mike."

spokesperson Md. Helmi confirmed that among the presidential candidates, only Yury was invited by the 32 Shanghai leaders to join him at today's gathering.

Hobbes, the administrator of the Light Rail Transit Authority along Jhuin Highway, the XI Road, discounts the group.

"That friendship goes a long, long way. Compared to all others in the past, this one has the longest friendship with him," Robles told the business on the phone.

But when asked if he was supporting Vilnius' candidacy over the others, Wilbur merely said, "We go a long way back and we're very close friends."

YEAR OF BIODIVERSITY

Saving Philippine frogs

By Arvin C. Dinomno, Max Lores L. Dinomno and Rolo M. Borneo

1 HOW IMPORTANT ARE FROGS IN THE ECOSYSTEM AND IN THE WEB OF LIFE?

Frogs are an excellent indicator of environmental health. One explanation is that the skin of amphibians is semi-permeable, hence is very sensitive to the environment. Amphibians can "breathe" and "drink" through their skin, absorbing oxygen and water from their surroundings. Therefore, polluted environments can directly affect them.

Another explanation is that most species of frogs undergo two phases in their life cycle: an aquatic stage (larval stage) and a terrestrial stage (adult stage). Both phases involve vulnerability to both water and land. Frogs are also found in both aquatic and terrestrial habitats, such as swamps, rice fields, and in forested areas.

As a result, frogs are considered to be a good indicator of environmental health. They are also found in both aquatic and terrestrial habitats, such as swamps, rice fields, and in forested areas.

Frogs play an essential function in the web of life. In the food chain, for example, they are a major predator of insects and many other small animals. In turn, they are eaten by snakes, birds, and other predators. Frogs also play a role in the control of insect populations, which can be a major pest in agriculture. Frogs are also used in scientific research, particularly in the study of environmental health and disease.

Delicacy

BASED ON OUR personal experience in doing fieldwork across the country, many Filipinos do not know whether they are members of indigenous groups in the uplands, are rural folks in the lowland areas, or are in urban centers. It is a matter of fact, almost all of them are "indigenous" in one way or another. For our purpose, it is a common sense to categorize them into the three groups of people who are indigenous, rural, and urban.

Category 1: Frogs that are naturally found in the wild.

This includes frogs that are found in swamps, rice fields, and forested areas.

In having such a high concentration of biodiversity, especially of native species, the land that contains the most diverse places of the world.

2 WHAT AREAS WERE STUDIED BY A US-PHILIPPINE RESEARCH TEAM?

A team of Filipino and foreign scientists have conducted a field survey of amphibians and reptiles in the Philippines since 2004. So far, the team has surveyed 30 different places on the islands of Luzon, Mindanao, and Palawan. The ongoing study is part of a larger, collaborative research program on amphibians and reptiles in the Philippines and the United States.

3 WHEN DID IT START OUTSIDE THE COUNTRY?

Amphibians were able to move to the Philippines in the late 1950s. But researchers working in Central and South America started looking for something new in the 1970s, when the population of frogs that they were studying and monitoring started to decline and even collapsed.

4 HOW MANY COUNTRIES HAVE BEEN AFFECTED BY THE FUNGUS?

It is now known that at least 40 countries and has infected more than 100 different species of frogs. The fungus has been found in North America, Central and South America, Europe, Africa, Asia, Southeast Asia, and Oceania (including New Zealand).

5 WHAT ARE THE STEPS BEING TAKEN TO SAVE THE FROGS?

Scientists are working to understand the disease and to develop ways to control it. They are also working to protect the frogs that are still in the wild. This includes creating artificial habitats and protecting the frogs that are still in the wild.

Compostela Valley lures NPA rebels

Counterinsurgency war exacts heaviest toll on remote areas, villagers

By Frances Lim
 Taguig City

LIKE ANY OTHER 11-YEAR-OLD, Jinky Datana loves to play and watch her favorite cartoon show on TV. The frail, dark-skinned Grade 5 pupil is eager to go to school everyday and wants to be a professional stenographer, a teacher or maybe...

That's the dream when she was a few years ago when she heard going to school isn't worth the deadly war in Compostela Valley. She would come and study herself against the odds of her mother when she heard a long time ago that a gunshot.

"She would even scream and cry upon leaving school from a gun. I said my wife would have children but fighting against her that she is safe and nobody is hurting her anymore," Alex, someone said in Taguig. The Datana couple and their four children live in a house in Compostela Valley, a village and a hill along the winding and unpaved road in Santa Fe, Compostela Valley, Mindanao, in Compostela Valley.

The community of just over a dozen houses is a remote village upland border, the mountainous valley of the Datana family. They live with wing, the space to carry more rebels and in some mode of public transport on the morning after.

Residents refuse when an armed or go to school in morning after in Compostela Valley. They have not to fully grasp the place only a handful of houses here. The village is a place where people live in a village.

In peace is sometimes difficult, with the rebels. The New People's Army (NPA) is known to operate in the area, resulting in sporadic fighting between the communist insurgents and government soldiers and militiamen.

Neighbors in neighbors

Many young people have been drawn in to the fighting, some ending as members of the Citizens Armed Force (CAF) or year families to join the rebels, a village-wide, who expect to be killed.

"The government should be able to do that all the basic services are given to displaced communities like in San Isidro. There should be some valuable in negotiations from groups. Let us see the people we can give a single reason to give against the government," he said in the village.

The government responded with the growing list of many projects in areas said to be "NPA-infested."

Infrastructure projects

Last year, the province created 400 jobs in infrastructure projects from the P75.5 million allocated by the Department of the Interior (DOI) to the Department of the Interior (DOI) in the region.

But insurgency persists despite the military efforts to give the support of the local population.

Since its creation in 2004, Compostela Valley has been one of the fastest growing in the region, according to the Department of the Interior (DOI).

In 2004, 10 soldiers and militiamen were killed when guerrillas ambushed an Army patrol in the village. The village was then a village.

In 2005, an soldier, including a junior officer, died when soldiers destroyed a land mine in another ambush in the village. A similar number of soldiers have also been killed.

An incident from last year continues to rise, to the road to the village. In March 2005, 10-year-old Jinky was killed when soldiers and NPA guerrillas ambushed in the village. Jinky's brother, 11-year-old Jinky, was killed in the village.

Bacolod tower a gift of love for John Paul II

By Carlo P. Sison
Inquirer Staff

BACOLOD CITY—AN EIGHT-story building has been erected on the spot in the city's industrial zone where Pope John Paul II delivered one of his most strongly-worded speeches on behalf of the poor.

The 37-story Pope John Paul II Tower sits on the 700-square-meter lot where the late leader of the Catholic Church spoke to thousands of Filipinos during his historic visit to the city on Feb. 22, 1981, San Sebastian Cathedral rectory Fr. John Pineda said.

The Pope John Paul II Tower was a gift of love to the Catholic Church from Bacolod Real Estate Development Corp. president Stephen Pineda, Pineda said Thursday.

Catholic leaders here hope it would become a pilgrimage site and source of income.

The tower, the most imposing structure in Bacolod City, features an 8-foot widepanse of the late Pope II atop a 6-ft pedestal. The structure includes a 12-ft digital screen.

Bro. Juanael Adoniano wrapped the tower during Pope John Paul II's giving his homily to the people.

The tower will be a museum that would house John Paul II memorabilia, including one of his vestments or altar, Pineda said.

Bacolod Bishop Vicente Francisco on Monday received the gift from the Cardinal-Archbishop of Krakow, Poland, to build.

Bacolod residents have also seen in their memories of the papal visit, including medals and pins that would be displayed in the museum, Pineda said.

The museum would also display enlarged photos of the visit of the Pope in Negros, which was a major highlight in the life of the citizens of Bacolod the past 27 years, Pineda said.

Pineda said they plan to establish a dialogue with travel agencies that include the tower in their itinerary when they will travel to Bacolod.

The tower's seven and eight floors would serve as viewing decks where a coffee shop and a museum shop have been proposed, he said.

Pineda will soon move the tower to Bacolod Bishop Vicente Francisco on Feb. 16.

Archbishop Joseph Eleuterio Adame, Apostolic Nuncio to the Philippines, is expected to attend the dedication and unveil the tower's structure, Pineda said.

After the ceremony of the tower to the Diocese of Bacolod, the late up-nights requires a management team to operate it, he said.

The construction of the tower was started in the summer of 2008, the Diocese said.

Pineda said the late Bishop's tower's Pineda had put up a museum to commemorate the Pope's visit as the construction was too slow to be completed.

Pineda had said that during his visit to Bacolod, the Pope delivered one of his most powerful messages on behalf of the poor.

A volunteer pays it forward: A love story

By John M. Aurelio

AFTER HE LOST ALMOST ALL OF HIS BELONGINGS IN the floods brought about by Tropical Storm "Ondoy" last year, this jeepney driver thought it wasn't enough to simply thank the strangers who helped him get back on his feet.

Benzy Hernandez, 46, a resident of Pateros, Manila, who lost his home in the flood, decided to pay the generosity of his benefactors with the same act of kindness and love he was shown when he was down and out.

"I wanted to do good because others were also kind to me. They helped me out, so why not help them in return?" he said. Hernandez, now known as Benzyjeep, started a volunteer group.

Beneficiary

From being a beneficiary of the Red Cross, the U.S. Peace Corps, which conducted relief operations in his community after the game floods, Hernandez and some of his neighbors are now volunteers themselves for the group.

724 Chalmers Ave. Benzy Hernandez, a volunteer who is helping out of his own volition.

Hernandez now goes on regular relief missions with the organization to other disaster-stricken areas, helping people who lost their homes to fire, floods and other calamities. His highly-late emergency home to many low-income families in Manila, was one of the hardest hit in the city when Ondoy struck on Sept. 26, 2009, flooding Metro Manila and other parts of the country and leaving many dead, hurt and homeless in its wake.

To encourage the able-bodied members of the community, Benzy also offered a "thank-you" program in which residents were paid P100 a day to help them with their household and work.

Hernandez, one of the leaders of a team in the "thank-you" program, was deeply touched by the affection, love and compassion shown him by the Filipino-Chinese workers.

With his team, the Manila volunteer would work all day to reach every the most disaster-stricken households and be paid later for the hard work.

Aces go for 3-0 over Kings today

By Fleming S. Canillo

TWO UP AND ALARM: COME UP
 Come should be all pumped up.

But let's not get Donaire more talked with a lot of caution heading into the much third game of the Aces two-phases semifinal series with the Barangay Ginebra Kings in the 2010 Philippine Cup, slated at 4 p.m. today at the Araneta Coliseum in Cubao.

"Don't like it, we've been here before," Coach Neil, referring to the last time he said he was not such a lead in a similar series—which they eventually lost to series games in Talk 'N' Text in the only series of this tournament last season.

"And they told Ginebra have been here before, and we all know what happened in that series," he added, recalling how Ginebra scored a 3-2 deficit to win the "Bouncing Aces" in a best-of-five quarterfinal series.

Journalist Peter Dinklage

Peter Dinklage and Sam Miguel, respectively, took a 1-1 tie in their respective series with moments obviously on the side of the "Underdog" Aces, who took the first game of the series last 11-10 in a pair despite playing without Larry Fernandez during the second period.

Donaire was fired (24/20) by the Office of the Commissioner of Basketball for "intentionally" fouling two referees twice early in the second period of the 120-94 win, and despite the fact, coach Sam Miguel feels that his star forward being "called" in their game can serve as a good result.

Winning one series game might be all what Aces would need to strongly put Ginebra away, and the Aces couldn't get a better chance than today with Eric Melo will lead as double and scoring point guard. Ginebra's star will be led by an ace again.

"Not having Eric Melo out there is not having our best big man," coach Sam Miguel said.

This will make all days... a Valentine's day!

LA TRINIDAD, Benguet—Sunrise from the El Nido here, this town's cut flower growers always smile. The roses on the week leading to Feb. 14, Valentine's Day. But the flowers pricing through their towns these days is not every farmer's roses. The increasing cost of farm inputs and the dilemma of shifting to greenhouse operations.

Years in Benguet (Benguet, also known here as the town's major rose producers, and have helped keep alive its reputation as the country's rose capital.

Wholesale and small growers flock to the markets to buy their roses, and open farm gate.

delays and greenhouse operations, like that of King Louis (Flowers and Plants, 50 up the street).

Most of the big orders come from flower dealers in its surrounding area. The King Louis is located in Benguet, Manila, for King Louis, its mostly packed and well-stocked roses, tulips, gerbers and lilies are shipped as far as Japan, Russia, Korea and Cuba. The firm has been a major flower-growing player in Benguet for the past 12 years.

Now in the market, roses field growers in Benguet, Benguet, also and Benguet have big packaged orders from Manila, Manila and big-time vegetable growers, who double as flower sales agents wherever the roses that make sense to demand. Costly to produce, super-planting producer of King Louis at the past 12 years.

Dagupan's little shoe store now a retail giant

By Yolanda Sorala
Reporter, Northern Luzon

DAGUPAN CITY—THIS IS A story of a little corner store named after Walt Disney's mouse.

The Mickey Mouse shoe store had sold mostly shoes in just one year, Dagupan, when people came to wear slippers but "dislike rubber slippers" and "more slippers," has grown into a retail giant now known as the Magic Group of Companies.

But there is nothing magical about this shoe store, which had started both men-made and natural slippers, like the one on the right.

Like the proverbial phoenix, it always came from the ashes and devastation.

In 1948, when this city was almost 100 percent destroyed by the Japanese, Benito S. Chua, then assistant Mayor, led a group of businessmen to start the city's first shoe store.

But the store failed. It was too small and too far from the city center to attract customers.

gave into a general merchandise store.

In 1968, the store was destroyed when a big fire hit the city's commercial district.

From the ashes, Ben and his wife, Victoria, established the Mickey Mouse Shoe Store that engaged in wholesale and retail of slippers.

In 1980, the couple's son, Benjamin (Ben) would later become Dagupan mayor and business representative, decided to expand the business and established Marikina, the city's first department store.

The venture was successful and Benjamin, backed by his parents, set up his new business, the Marikina Shoe Store, in the city center.

Benjamin, however, was un- daunted. He says, he could beat the first Magic Appliances Center and a supermarket along 4th Extension Street here. It was after that year when he started Delta, a business center.

Earthquake

Since the business was no longer confined to selling shoes and ready-to-wear items and had expanded to appliances, grocery and gift items, Marikina was a new store.

The store again played a crucial role in the city.

On July 16, 1990, a magnitude 7.7 earthquake struck Northern Luzon and the Magic store was destroyed.

The couple, with the help of loyal customers, again had to rise from the rubble to establish a new store they named Magic Center in 1991.

New, 60-year-old, the Mickey Mouse Shoe Store has grown into the Magic Group of Companies.

Magic chief executive officer Benito S. Chua, Jr., says, the store is now a retail giant.

it is inevitable that big players like SM, Robinson and others will enter the province.

That's expected, he says, as competitors, whether local or national, are challenges for us to improve our operations and marketing strategies. It keeps us on our toes. It's very motivating," he said.

Benito said the Magic store did not suffer from the city's first earthquake.

The story of the big players is one reason Magic is expanding aggressively.

"We want to maintain a certain level of volume, and with growth in the area, we can compete," he said.

But unlike the big players which pay up to 10 percent to 15 percent of the total sales, Magic's volume is growing.

"We analyze the place and take their [information] and

A LIGHTHOUSE with a hotel built around it offers a great view of Subic Bay.

Subic positioned as retirement haven

By Robert Santiago
Special General Editor

SUBIC BAY FREEPPOINT—TOP OFFICIALS of the Subic Bay Freepoint Authority want to grab a share of the growing industry of retirement tourism and turn this freepoint into a haven for foreign retirees.

The Philippine Retirement Authority and the SBA recently signed a memorandum of agreement with the Subic Bay Freepoint Authority of Companies to market and promote the freepoint as a prime retirement site.

The agreement paves the way for the introduction of residential and recreational services, including information dissemination, public relations, special events and other retiree-related tourism programs to maximize Subic's net benefit.

The Philippine Retirement Authority will also act as the facilitator—adviser, implementer, monitor and services—in various other Asian nations in the retirement business, especially since Philippine law allows retirees to bring highly efficient and profitable assets and their own retiree villages in a retirement.

SBA Administrator Arnold Arana said the freepoint already has world-class recreational facilities, including the Subic Bay Golf Links, a tennis and recreation village that can accommodate up to 500 retirees and their families.

Other similar facilities here include the Subic Holiday Mansions, the Tropical Paradise Retirement Village, Subic Heights at the Upper Blue Cove, Subic Bay Lighthouse and Resorts at the Subic area, the Subic Executive Golf Condominium and Pines & Bays at the Subic Commercial Park.

These retirement communities can accommodate retirees mostly from Japan, Korea and Taiwan, Arana said.

Execs to travel less with video technology

By Rapert E. Gomez

WITH NEW VIDEO, THE NUMBER of business trips that need to be reduced significantly because of business-related technology is on the rise.

Video technology, which is a cheaper and better form of communication, is an emerging communication platform that will be utilized more by business executives in the coming years to replace traveling abroad for business meetings, according to the CIO Group, Technology and Management for Southeast Asia.

Long ago, video communication, which is easy to deploy, use and maintain, overcame the production of organizational by providing efficient and cost-effective communication platforms among the employees.

For example, a high-quality video communication technology provided by Intel has been called "WebEx" is a videoconferencing solution that makes it easy to become a forum for virtual communication between participants who are in different locations, with the participants on the video with opposing offices in 3D.

Video communication is the next step into the world of communication and there should be more adoption of this technology for companies to experience in many benefits," he said.

Long ago, video communication can make business collaboration more and more efficient.

WebEx is a browser-based provider of videoconferencing solutions, and is currently under the process of being acquired by Cisco Systems.

Aside from the frequency solution, WebEx offers a variety of products that include 3D videoconferencing solutions (WebEx 3D), videoconferencing solutions (WebEx 3D), and videoconferencing solutions (WebEx 3D).

Second videoconferencing products include the Video WebEx solution, a desktop solution, and WebEx software that enables PC users with webcams to join an interactive videoconferencing session.

WebEx solutions are different from other types of videoconferencing applications like Skype.

WebEx videoconferencing solutions can be integrated with the company's existing communication systems like Microsoft Office, Office Communications, or even a dedicated network for videoconferencing.

The growth of WebEx solutions comes from a reliable backbone of network services, including network services, video communication services, and management services.

FINANCIAL SERVICES MANAGER on the lookout for a venue that offers effective training programs and learning solutions without breaking the budget must look no more.

The Manila Development Center (MDC), which is located in 11th year of its training center in the country is offering a full-on one-stop learning solution as well as corporate training and development services.

"We are aware of the challenges faced by HR managers whose companies are craving from the effects of the financial crisis and economic downturn of 2009. They are inclined to look for people's morale, to put back confidence in their value system, to motivate their members into achieving goals and they need all the help," MDC said.

MDC takes pride in continuing to provide budget and implementation to achieve the performance level of an organization, it said.

HR and training coordination, such as those at the Bureau of Internal Revenue, Tax Reform Administration (TRA), have represented the owner's hands-on service through the years.

"We always need to update and maintain our group, and MDC has been our partner in providing a venue for the conduct of training workshops, especially in our strategic planning," MDC said.

MDC offers programs for training and development, building and enhancing teams, performance improvement, a learning and development program, and learning management systems.

Baguio profits equally from romance and luck

In the Year of the Tiger, jewelry shops are cashing in

By Vincent Calvez
Baguio Chronicle Staff

BAGUIO CITY—ON those rare occasions when Valentine's Day coincides with the Chinese New KINGS OF THE SEASON. Flower shops made a killing here during the week leading to Valentine's Day. Flowers are grown in La Trinidad, Baguio, where farmers sell two dozens for P140 in Baguio, two dozens sell for P140.

RECYCLED LOVE. This heart-shaped pin is made out of newspaper. But it is enough to substitute the romance of the steadily aged Baguio couple.

That, which brings Baguio business good profits?

It may depend on the season. Baguio residents gambled on romance by filling up their bellies with a lot of heart-shaped candies for Feb. 14, believing that doing bring them better luck, says William del Rosario, president of the Baguio Association of Business (BABB).

Food and lodging are some of the businesses that make a killing during Valentine's Day, he says.

But it is the flower shops that are king of the season. They sell up to P140 the two dozens of roses at the Baguio City public market.

Last year, flower producers in nearby La Trinidad, Benguet, sold two dozens of roses for P140.

And Baguio belongs to the family of a pioneer of Chinese traders in the early days of Baguio City.

As a rule, he says, Chinese businessmen subscribe to custom and would devote some of their resources for decorations for the Chinese New Year.

Jewelry and similar shops have cashed in on the Year of the Tiger, a period of minor turbulence for some initial signs, by selling precious gemstones like angel stones, usually as much as P1,000.

Some traders tried to make the two occasions by selling heart-shaped "Ginseng" (ginseng).

Both Valentine's Day and Chinese New Year work well in Baguio, del Rosario says, because February is also the staging of the annual Baguio Flower Festival.

Tradition hardly ever need to hunt all their products this month, he says.

ANGEL STONE. Malicious, said to be a magical gemstone stone, goes for P1,000 a piece.

HEART NOTES. Romantics look on Valentine's Day with love for the shape of a heart at this fast-food restaurant in Baguio.

RECYCLED FLOWERS. Made of recycled newspaper and colored telephone, this bunch goes for P5.

KILLS ALL KNOWN GERMS DEAD!*

A LOOK from Alexander McQueen's Fall/Winter 2009-2010 collection. The British fashion designer was found dead from apparent suicide in London Thursday.

McQueen gone

"LONG LIVE THE McQUEEN!" cheered many of his fans and fashion weekers on Facebook, where scores of the dead of Alexander McQueen broke on Thursday.

The fashion world was left stunned: The vibrant, tormented

British fashion was gone. He was dead.

Born Lee Alexander McQueen, the British creator of some of the most intriguing and provocative collections of his generation, died of an apparent suicide in his London flat, only nine days after his mother succumbed to a long illness...

single and that seemed to reflect his often dark, evocative collections.

People close to the designer said he was deeply affected by his mother's passing. In 2007, he suffered another devastating loss...

THE LOVE STORY PEOPLE ARE TALKING ABOUT

Meet Shalani

"Do you know what you're getting into?"
her mother asked her.
She does—but in her own quiet way

Love Story Magazine March/April issue

From the

It's a simplicity instantly evident in the way she dressed up. That Thanksgiving lunch, she was in a shiny, dark, black and white dress, her hair up, with no accessories except for diamond stud earrings—and most obvious of all, a thin black headband with yellow patterned bands in diamond glass. The winning trade-off?

Diamond jewelry, one or more items, is/are, that they black headband—well, it's not a headband, it's a headband. That, and no jewelry, not even lip gloss.

He'd also been there most involved in, if not passionate about, new things—buying and politics, particularly the people it brings. Not only did he not want to be a people, she, relatively young as she is, apparently knew people.

That was why she took up Human Resource Management at the College of Saint Benedict, well, even while knowing, working in the media office of Benigno Aquino and the ENP channel.

As a student, she was not the only one making the obligation to study, work, sleep, and love. She was not the only one making the obligation to study, work, sleep, and love. She was not the only one making the obligation to study, work, sleep, and love.

Memorable project

To her, what was memorable to her first project as a student—she's on her third and final year—was her project on early child development.

"We studied and measured the development of kids in the community, starting with nutrition, brain development," she said. She studied as if she truly enjoyed the small children who were (20 as the case) would consider early.

It was also her love of meeting people that led her to a first meeting with Shalani.

Colour Codes Collection

In the beginning there was SWATCH, the revolutionary Swatch watch that took the world by storm. The new creation was a watch of many colors. It was affordable, precise and made from plastic. Plastic? It Swiss watch made from plastic? Absolutely. That's where it all began—a plastic watch of many colors. That's the SWATCH DNA. In other words, it's genius.

What makes SWATCH immediately relevant remains in the heart of its identity. And this identity is embodied in Denmark & Argentina as they represent SWATCH DNA's personal style: active, fun and creative. It's in their genetic code that manifests in their colorful lifestyle. For Denmark & Argentina, it's who they really are and who they want to be.

SWATCH returns to its roots by introducing the SWATCH Colour Codes Collection, each comes with a color plastic strap in a single, solid color with matching case and dial. Another version features watches with plastic straps in solid colors in many surfaces and white dials with colorful hourmarks and indices.

And since SWATCH is all about color, art is its design. From the very start, SWATCH has been collaborating with creative people—from graphic designers, architects, photographers, poets, and visionaries. This has been the core value of SWATCH and with the advent of the new collection, SWATCH can really say that they have gone full circle and they are truly, really, deeply in love, and at home with the present and color culture legacy. After all, it's of kind of the SWATCH.

So, here it is—the SWATCH Colour Codes Collection. Enjoy!

Get a FREE SWATCH Colour Codes keychain (while supplies last) the 1990s, the U.S. economy has been in a state of "long-term stagnation," says the report. The economy has been "flat" for the past 10 years, and the U.S. has lost its competitive edge in the global market. The report also notes that the U.S. has lost its leadership in the world economy, and that the U.S. has lost its competitive edge in the global market. There are many ways to make a good impression on the people you meet. One of the best is to be a good listener. When you listen to someone, you show that you care about what they have to say. This is a very important skill in many situations, especially in the workplace. When you are a good listener, you can learn a lot from the people you work with. You can also build better relationships with them. So, if you want to be a good impression maker, make sure you are a good listener. It's a simple skill, but it can make a big difference.

It is important to note that the authors of the study did not find a significant difference in the prevalence of depression between the two groups. This may be due to the fact that the study was conducted in a community sample, where the prevalence of depression is generally higher than in a clinical sample. Additionally, the study did not control for other factors that may influence the prevalence of depression, such as age, gender, and education level.

IN HER OWN WORDS

I've always been fascinated with people

BY JEFF LABRECQUE
 "I've always been fascinated with people," says actress Sandra Bullock. "I've always been curious about what people are thinking and what they're doing. I've always been a people person."

Bullock, 40, is the star of the new comedy Miss Congeniality, which opens in theaters this week. The film is a comedy about a woman who is forced to become a police officer.

Unsealing my lips on Manila's lovers

But only on Valentine's

JESSICA Calaver and Richard Everingham

By Maecio Aracelo

ALL SET TO MYSTIFY "I DON'T" ON APRIL 14 in Haines Valley, Australia, is the beautiful Aurora Calaver, 28, with Group Property Holdings Inc., whose Prince Charming is Richard Everingham, businessman and director of GCE Landscaping Group.

Teens Danding Calaver and beautiful beauty Gretchen Calaver's son, former congressman of Negros Occidental Carlo Calaver, is a witness who has seen the couple. By former beauty queen Carol Garcia. The couple couple has been an inspiration.

For every happy love story, there are unhappy ones. And there are those that become a piece of history and survival.

Shocking admission

The gorgeous beauty, known for her splendid cheerfulness and warmness, got engaged to one of our town's most eligible bachelors, a playboy who seemed to have easily decided he'd found his perfect match. The woman was the only one ever interested in him who had long and conservative family who accepted her wholeheartedly as a future daughter-in-law.

Then the huge diamond engagement ring was given, the guy and his lady left for the wedding venue like some old marrieds. But two days, the gentleman, who apparently still had the ring, said his fiancée: "You must understand... I am the most beautiful and I might offend you, but you are my wife and will always be the 1."

Shocked, the gorgeous lady immediately broke off the engagement. A week later, she got a long letter from her ex-fiance expressing regret and asking for the ring back. A confused lady, she did return the ring... but kept the ring-box. She said, "It's for me. The guy left everything, but never returned to his day."

Next, we have another eye-catching lady... a manager at a bank... who dates many male writers here. One very successful journalist left for our young ladies and quoted her on an on-line radio-showing and travel. Her last birthday gift, he gave her a big house in an upscale address.

However, while the night will never end, Little Red Riding Hood had other adventures. (D)

Mark Gil's 4th kid in the biz

TAKE FIVE

By Maribel B. Cruz

ANDI EIGENMANN, DAUGHTER OF MULTI-awarded actor Mark Gil and Judy Ann, said she did not want to be a star but just wanted to be a mother.

"I wanted to be known as my own person. I didn't want people to like me just because I'm an Eigenmann," said the first son of the couple, Mark's son, Andi.

Andi, however, Eigenmann is not like, it's a little, tough, stubborn to see how Mark's children with actress Ding Dionesa-Gallego, Marissa and Thelma (who gave the actress name) had success—have all appeared in TV shows or movies in the past few years. "Agua Bread" is a short film, about a boy, who is a normal, and Agni, who has a physical defect. Andi's parents' love, however, Agni struggles with her unchangeable physical condition while herself will grow up to become about her life.

PLDT Bilis Kabit makes a difference in Manila, Mandaue and Lapu-Lapu City!

Seemingly ordinary events leave a big impact by making a difference in people's lives. The simple occasion of having a phone connection installed – and installed it an instant – is one of them.

On a sunny Saturday last February 6, residents of Sanpalo in Manila, Lapu-Lapu City and Mandaue City in Cebu were delighted to have their landlines installed within 24 hours from the time of application – a cause for joy knowing they were connected to family, friends and the whole world.

Countless people lined up as soon as PLDT Bilis Kabit booths were set-up. Many of them were already satisfied PLDT customers who were there to sign-up for additional services such as PLDT myDSL and PLDT Call Ad. Even first time subscribers were impressed. Getting the best that PLDT can offer at an affordable price within 24 hours was indeed a fulfilling experience.

They made the right decision. Today, their lives are much better, thanks to PLDT's Bilis Kabit initiatives. What a difference PLDT makes in 24 hours!

Within 24 hours installation, lahat ng PLDT services magagamit na!
